

Friday

See what's bubbling up in the Twin Cities.

Hot Doggy

lifestyle cards

July 10th, 2009 Issue 153

It's summertime and the living is easy, so why not woof it up?

Of course we don't expect you to actually bark like a dog, but with Hungry Dog Designs it's easy to get in touch with (wo)man's best friend. Paula Fynboh, a born and bred Minnesotan and a former pageant winner, never outgrew the whole paper doll thing (and who blames her?).

So she turned her arts and crafts hobby into a respectable career path with her new line of four unique dollies/cards/magnets/whathaveyou. There's "Hungry Dog," the superego version of her own perky pooch Oscar; Betsy, a swanky Mexican-inspired cow; Catrina, a skeletonista (skeleton+fashionista); and Felix, a pa-purr kitty cat.

It may not be the right time to splurge on a one-of-a-kind dress, but there's always budget space for one-of-a-kind cards. Each is handmade (out of fanciful paper and recycled knick-knacks) by Fynboh herself. We want to take home the "Hungry Dog with Plastic Bishop" (and lots of gold glitter -- you never know what dogs will get into) and the sassy "Betsy with Glass of Beer" (not recommended for real cows).

These kitschy cut outs get our woof of our approval!

Hungry Dog Designs, $8.50 each,
www.hungrydogdesigns.com, shop at etsy.com.